Boy; you can't win with this guy. He bases his whole philosophy on free and open elections; then when the people don't elect the guys he likes he sulks and whines. Iraq is busy electing the wrong people and Palestine is electing the wrong people. Meanwhile we have marxists running half of South America; maybe he should get his eyes off the oil and do something. Remember when presidents used to have summits that accomplished something; with world leaders? What a total failure. President smirk.
