Saw Iris live last summer, she is good in concert, a real sweetheart. Some of her songs get sappy but the good ones are many and very good. "Our Town". Try the Jayhawks if you like her. File sharing seems to be the same thing they screamed about when the cassette was first marketed. Studies up the wazoo have proven that the more exposure the more sales and the better for music and creativity. This thing is about excluding the lesser knowns so the bigs make more money. The music co. put so much money into advertizing their golden boys that they have to constrain the free expression of talent in order to recoup their investments.
