Subject: Re: These are good points you make... Posted by Mr Vinyl on Fri, 03 Mar 2006 20:38:51 GMT View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Depends on what you mean by equipment. If a child needs special chairs or braces things like that I believe you could get a tax deduction for that. But that has nothing to do with home schooling. As I said above as far as books, supplies (desks, rulers, pens, markers charts, etc), curriculum, etc. you get zip. Nothing.