Let me ask you a question. Why do you bother to post on a "discussion group" if your not willing to support anything you say? Other than the fact that what you say is usually not correct. Do you do it just to hear yourself talk? Ask yourself this question "If I can't prove or even support what I post then could it be the other side is right?"If what you say is true the Democrats would be trumpeting it all over the news. It would be a victory for them that is very rare these days.Now I have to leave for awhile. Don't worry I'll be back when I can. No I'm not dodging any of your posts. I'm just very busy during the day. I will try to check in from time to time.
