Thats a group up in Idaho that believes among other things that the Government should be abolished; school systems should be abolished and taxes are illegal and everyone should own any weapons they choose. That is no lie; and I think those folks might be spreading to other parts of the country too. They have some other beliefs that seem to go along with these same positions but I cant name those. Its too disturbing. It always seems those types of philosophies are joined together somehow. Eliminate those we dont like.
