Subject: Re: I think...
Posted by Manualblock on Sat, 08 Jul 2006 12:54:11 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

So? They already proved that twice; I know I am not being heard here; I speak to the deaf. The only people in my experience who consistently vote against their own interests. It's really a carnivale; "Step Right UP!"They confuse them with difficult arguments about Gays and Creationism and Taxes so they vote their way. No one ever went broke underestimating the brains of the middle-class voter. They'll vote a huge tax increase for the wealthy because they get a one time 300$ bonus; but pay forever. Now thats real bright.I only post out of sheer amazement at the foolishness. I used to hope I could gain some understanding of why they do this; but that never happened. No explanation ever appeared.