

---

Subject: Something Has Occurred To Me

Posted by Manualblock on Sat, 19 Aug 2006 16:11:50 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I see a lot of folks disputing what they read in the papers and see on the TV news. And I have to wonder; if you feel the news or the TV is misleading then that implies that you know what the real story is; otherwisw how would you know they are not telling the truth?So my question is; since individuals know the real story that the news isn't telling; where do they get their information? And how do they know their information is accurate?I would love to see the sources of news and info that these folks have; and see their dedicated line to the undeniable truth.

---