Subject: Re: It's all about me, pal
Posted by Manualblock on Tue, 29 Aug 2006 15:55:46 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

The only thing we can do is remain awake and keep vigilant. No one person can help anything but you got to try and stay focused on the priorities and reign in the extremist wackos. What I do is try and think what makes sense and who benefits. If they clear-cut a forest then a couple dozen guys make great money for a year and the lumber company gets wealthy; but then the people lose a forest. So we use legislation to force them to re-forestation plans and selective cutting. Thats the war and we try to strike a balance.Use your vote to promote the best policy and minimise the problems people can cause when they vote people into office based on faulty or non-issue platforms. We all knew the Iraqi WMD's were BS; how did that happen? We let down our guard. Now we have a huge mortgage on our future.