I know Hud and recall the scene where he tells the rancher or his dad or whatever to sell the diseased cattle instead of putting them down. From the film: "You're hard man Hud." I guess. :-/
As for quirky films starring big stars I'd give the nod to Steve McQueen in "Baby The Rain Must Fall". I'm still looking for that to see it again. I don't see stuff like The Wild One w/Brando as being outrageous or even interesting. Other all-time quirkout is "The Ruling Class" with Peter O'Toole. FYI, Isabelle Huppert is in the new release called "I [heart] Huckabee's."
