Woah, that's really something!I wonder who this "dreamboy" is? And "geniusturks"? I wonder if they're really Islamic hacker pranksters or if that's a front.Any ideas?These days, it's pretty serious. It's cyber-terrorism. To have a hacker website clearly referenced and identified as the responsible party seems strange to me. Even if in a country that isn't cooperative in legal matters, it still sends up a signal that says "shoot me." It's not like hackers are invulnerable to hacking themselves.Interesting.
