Life; the world and everything is the only thing worth talking about!I just rented Woman In The Dunes thats why I mentioned it as a point of interest; there sure are lots of obscure movies out there; thats why we share. Please; feel free. I am not a critic and really am not even educated in film, so any and all recommendations accepted. Since it is unbearable to watch most of the new ones.Group build is coming along slow but sure, you should've participated! How did you see that movie so young? Film Class?I just happen to have a good rental place close by; they have over 40k movies.I really take their recommendations. Started Film Noir last week, Touch Of Evil and The Killers, the Hemmingway story. Love this stuff.Audio is about art and art is life! I know this foruum concentrates on the engineering aspect of the art; thats why we need to humanise it occasionaly.Luckily it's a good group that accepts the occasional stray thread with tolerance and understanding.
