Maybe I was, about 20+ years ago:-), now I just sitting at the PC. Huh, the amp project... I know, part 3 - more power stage... cathode resistor + cap calculation, input cap, some wiring details, hum pot, etc. Then drivers, and power supply, then finalisation...I still expecting the power transformer, and maybe I`ll buy input choke, too. For now, I use (buzzing:-)) 360-0-360V toroid, actually not too bad. And some new and salvaged chokes. Delivery time (4-6 weeks!) passed, and I`ll wait a few more weeks, then I`ll buy a "Lundahl" PT. At least, always on stock. And I`ll try to buy some new and interesting "Mundorf" TUBE-Caps.But, to be honest, for now I`m doing nothing at all.
