Maybe I was, about 20+ years ago:-), now I just sitting at the PC. Huh, the amp project... I know, part 3 - more power stage... cathode resistor + cap calculation, input cap, some wiring details, hum pot, etc. Then drivers, and power supply, then finalisation...I still expecting the power transformer, and maybe I'll buy input choke, too. For now, I use (buzzing:-) 360-0-360V toroid, actually not too bad. And some new and salvaged chokes. Delivery time (4-6 weeks!) passed, and I'll wait a few more weeks, then I'll buy a "Lundahl" PT. At least, always on stock. And I'll try to buy some new and interesting "Mundorf" TUBE-Caps. But, to be honest, for now I'm doing nothing at all.
