Subject: Job interview
Posted by colinhester on Tue, 28 Jun 2005 01:50:47 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

The first joke reminds me of a job interview I heard about where I used to work. The HR person, a blonde twit, asked an old ink technican, whom she was interviewing, what kind of animal he would like to be. Mind you, this was a roundtable interview with everyone from the pres on down atteding. Without missing a beat, the gentleman said, "A whale, of course." The HR twit asked, "Why a whale?" He politely answered, "Because they have a ten foot tongue and can breath out the top of their head." The HR twit was NOT amused. He was hired on the spot. This has been verified by several people that were attending.....Colin