The man had nothing but Matt Coopers best interest at heart. To be pummelled in the press like this; with no regard for the absolute sanctity of the GWB administrations mandate from the diety to drag the American people into the new world of corporate governance. And for what? Because he compromised the guys wife and possibly outed half the worlds security forces in the process? Maybe put the mans wife in harms way; big deal! We have bigger fish to fry here; there's oil in them thar hills!But; why won't anyone play with us anymore?Watch the body langauge when GW does a photo op with a world leader; It's hysterical as the other guy squirms and wriggles trying to get as far from the bush as physically possible and still appear in the picture.
