Subject: Re: wal-mart
Posted by Wayne Parham on Sun, 21 Aug 2005 02:48:25 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Do a search of Zoroastrians. They believed in a monotheistic God, (Ahura-Mazda) and a lot of their religious teachings were good common sense about things like hygiene and social graces. It's a pretty interesting religion. There are only about 100,000 of them left, and it's a blood-line based religion that doesn't allow converts. I 'spose you could read their religious text (the Avesta) and go to their temples in Bombay but they do not have a conversion process.