The Federal Judge here in New York just handed down a descision that allows the Salvation Army; even though their budget is funded by the Federal Govt to the tune of 90%; to demand that their employees belong to some Jesus group. I would find the Intelligent Design thing humerous except for the fact that it is beginning to seem like the religioso wacko's are getting anything they want; fair or not. The U.S. is becoming a mirror of the Muslim east with all this fundementalist nonsense going on.
