The problem, ladies and gentlemen, is that the stink that emanates from the Dungeon is sticking to the remainder of the Audio Round Table. There are visitors to ART who fall into the Dungeon and assume that this level of opinion and scholarship permeates the entire ART. This may potentially cost me a customer, and there is even one sponsor that is beginning to become uncomfortable. That may cost Wayne some money. The Dungeon was intended for beefs and bitches about audio topics. It was never intended to be one man's blog for radical leftist ideology. Its time to cut the crap and move the political polemic elsewhere and return to audio topicsBob
