Subject: Re: Eureka!
Posted by Bill Martinelli on Sun, 04 Dec 2005 18:04:04 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Are they sheilded or are they just getting to an age where they find some of the things that happened in the past interesting? My kids are pretty focussed on alternative string tunin or what notes make up a diminished scale! a few years ago there was a big focus on pokymon cards and skate boards. I dont think you have to try and explain things unbiased though. I tell them how I feel and what I think happened but also offer up other opinions of what other people think about the same situation. They make up their own minds and will change their opinion a few times too