Yeah... I read some of the comments made by this judge. He wasn't fooled for a second. "Intelligent design" would be something that would give my one ton van with a diesel... about 50 miles to the gallon for starters. I would call that intelligent. That I would recognize as intelligent design. If the religious right wants this monkey business and my kid has to sit through it in school then I want equal time in the class room for Hari Krishna. msl
