We saw this before, I just reminded you - the same behaviour. You can freely "spit" on GB forum, but didn't like my response? Too bad. And trying to represent everything like personal prejudices, where you are "right and clean"...haha. And for the record, this is not just my decision. Almost all permanent GB "members" from the beginning (who actually build things "together" on GB) demanded your removing from the forum. The quantity of your blablah can't deceive anyone. I respect you and your company, but not your behaviour. Good bye.
