

---

Subject: Re: just say no to shimano

Posted by Shane on Fri, 23 Dec 2005 06:27:05 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Notwithstanding the continuing patent debate, I for one am a Campy man. I have a nice Bianchi, Made in Italy, superset 2 steel frame in Ferrari Red with Campy Centaur drivetrain and Record Ergos. Nice red Mavic CXP33 rims. I also own an older aluminum Trek with undersize gearing that I inherited from my uncle that has Shimano RSX "mountain bike" gearing on it. Excellent bike for fighting wind and hills. Used to ride at least 20 miles/day but since we moved a year and a half ago I've just been too busy with work to get in the miles.

---