I had hoped to keep everybody who took part in the group buy anonymous. Thanks for speaking up anyway. I am looking forward to building my second Merlin amp. Still trying to decide on the front end. The simple pentode keeps coming to the front. I found a neat little DH tube like a 12BY7 but with an oxide coated filament. That one and 6CL6's keep coming to the front. And on top of it all, my wife wants to build an amp. And I want to try a tertiary-winding CFB amp again, this time with a better OPTx than the So-So Dynaco A441. cheers, Douglas
