Did he have his eyepatch and sabre on him? Searching the archives there are so many dubious speeches that it's truely amazing how the Republican Hardcore Reactionary Neo-Cons can live with themselves they sound so disengenous.I read there is forming in the house a co-alition of real Republicans who seek to return to the root thinking of Republicanism.Fiscal responsibility/Less Government and less Government intrusion in personal lives/ prudent and carefull international diplomacy/ seperation of church and state / sound business legislation and job promotion / solid educational programs. Sounds good to me.That would eliminate cutting taxes while fighting a war. Eliminate the war period; protecting American jobs from outsourceing; allowing higher education credits; non-involvement in the culture wars; protecting the country from excess and illegal immigration. Lots more.
