It's not whether they have the right to have nuclear weapons; we can't stop them if they want the stuff; witness North Korea and Iran. But we don't need to be supplying the means to produce them to a country that will not join us in signing the non-proliferation treaty. Why won't they sign?The only thing I can come up with is that since we are bound by the treaty and they are not; we figure we'll do an end-run around it by supplying a country we are allied with that is not part of the treaty.Rudy Guilliani for president. I am signing off all my posts with that from now on. These poor mis-giuded people down south and out west have never seen what a real leader looks like in action. Someone who can get a job done and do it right. Someone who is on our side; not the OILSIDE.I'd like to see those protestors in Pakistan mess with "Rudy G." Dude will go up to Washington and kick some ass and take some names. We need to see a man in office instead of these spoiled little frat-boys.
