Subject: Slobodan Milosevic dies in jail
Posted by Wayne Parham on Mon, 13 Mar 2006 15:19:06 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I saw that article in the paper yesterday. I've been too busy to check in on internet or television very much, but I did see that in the newspapers. I remember watching all of that go down from the vantage point of an American, but I knew I was pretty far removed. Dragan and I talked a lot back then and he lived there, so I knew his vantage point was a helluva lot more relable than mine, sitting over here in front of the television in Oklahoma by-God USA. I used to get all riled up watching the evening news, thinking we oughta put things right, stuff like that. (It would be nice to put things right, if possible and one could truly know an absolute "right" but that's another story). I knew that what I saw through the television was just spin, totally BS. I always wondered what was really going on in Yugoslavia back then.