Plankton is something else. Stay the course; it's never easy blah blah. WW II didn't last this long. I'm watching the map of Iraq and you know how they had those little green arreas that were supposed to be "Havens Of Insurgent Activity?" around Fallujah and Sammarra; well now those little green blobs are one giant blob. Soon the blob will take over all of Iraq and Plankton will be telling us there is just a small group of insurgents causing all the trouble.Today a straw poll came out of Iraq through Reuters that says more than 70% of the Iraqi's say life was better under Saddam and can they have him back please?Plankton; all you hear now about him is excuses why he can't do his job.
