Those new class a steriods; the ones that beat the test, they are really expensive. I heard they have to go to the old communist block countries to buy that stuff. Then of course you need a masking agent and it has to be timed just right;; man it's hard being a sports figure nowadays. The issue of IP though is really MLB owners, it's not the players this time; although I am sure they will get something for themselves off this IP scam thing.
