I dont know if they are holding things together or not by doing jobs americans wont do. I was more or less teasing at the people who say the illegals are working so hard doing jobs Americans wont do. I think there are a lot of jobs lots of people would rather ot do. what of it? I thought these jobs were for people starting out and then they move on or up to better jobs. Only a handful get to start at the top. The rest of us work our way up. I dont know what to think anymore. Grumbling about it sure isnt changing things!
