I seem to remmember they said he was blown up in the bomb strike that leveled the whole house. Yet he looks pretty intact to me in the photos. Then they changed the story to read that they caught him and he was still alive and actually tried to escape off the stretcher? Am I dreaming here or is this a little off?Not to mention a freind who is a NYC detective said he thinks the photo looks like a guy who was hit in the face; exactly like hundreds he has had to examine in the course of his job and carreer. Are we sure this is him? Who was the woman and child burned beyond recognition in the blast in that house?
