All the Sicilian cement heads that live here won't let anyone in to learn anything about us anyway. There was an out-of-town guy a couple years ago wanted to buy south of Montauk Highway by the water. The real estate refused to show the house; he threatened a lawsuit. The guy selling took the house off the markett for a year and a half until the lawsuit guy finally bought another home in another town. Then he put the house up and sold in two days; to a guys sister. Lot of houses for sale now though; no one can afford the taxes.I like it here though; except there is no good food stores. I have to drive 18 miles to get the organic food I like.But we are only 10 minutes from Fire Island. Good fishing/golfing/boating/beaches/parks/events. Always something to do; 40 minutes from Manhattan.
