Let me start off by saying that I have never liked the Star Wars movies. The first couple weren't bad but the rest I though pretty much sucked. I only went to see this one because my young son wanted to see it. I thought it was the best of all of them. Not a great movie but better than the other Star Wars movies. I thought the special effects were excellent in this one. Something I thought lacking in the others. I would say that if you like this kind of thing then you will really like this one.
