Yep, I don't know how they could mistake it for a bomb, it looks more like something from a kids Litebright set.:They're the ones that setup "spot checks" for seat belts and stuff like that. They tell you it's for "public safety" but what it's really for is an added tax.That's my conspiracy theory, the cops,lawyers and judges are all in cahoots with each other to make money off us poor working class. Guilty until proven innocent.
