Subject: Re: Anna Nicole Smith
Posted by bretldwig@yahoo.com on Sun, 11 Mar 2007 05:34:49 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

What burns my ass is the incessant comparison of this cow to Marilyn Monroe. They were just alike except that Marilyn had a great deal of talent, class, empathy, and purpose in life and Smith had none. Like Monroe, Smith was in the news for personal problems. But MM married the best men she could out of a genuine need for someone to be with, not men three times her age for the money. She in fact refused to marry the one man whose money would have left her set for life, Johnny Hyde. It's sad from a human standpoint what happened to Smith, but she had no talents or achievements to speak of. She won't be remembered, and Marilyn will.