Subject: Re: Thought I had the flu for Christmas
Posted by colinhester on Fri, 02 Jan 2009 02:59:20 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Well, the kids did get a mild touch of the flu - nothin' like I had. For New Year's Eve, I went over to a neighbor's house and had a couple of beers. I'm too old and there are too many stupid people out to party any more.I've got a few New Year's resolutions going, and one is to get more involved with audio again. This past year just kind of went by in a haze. However, I'm finding more and more people in the Cinci/Dayton area into high end audio. The wife says as soon as I get the kitchen remodeled, I can have people over. The kitchen was easy to take apart, but it's been two years and very little has gone back together.....C