I'm still game. We never really did anything with this last time, but I'd definitely still be interested. We could probably buy from Digikey, just pool together to make one order. I'd buy several all by myself. Do you think we should make a post on the Group Build forum and see how many hits we get?

Another one I'd like to do a group buy on is Burr Brown opamps. I need OPA 627 and OPA 404 chips. (See "Active Sub Crossover" thread.) I'll buy dozens of them and that alone should allow a quantity discount. So I probably should make a post in the Group Build forum for that too. We all can take advantage of the quantity to get a price break.
