Saba makes good speakers. THe ones in most demand are the single driver green cone ones. Very hard to find. ONly available off old Saba radios. I have a pair. Said to sound awesome.
I personally love the sound of the single driver old German tube radios (Nordmende, Saba). What tone! Not much power but awesome tone.
Perfect in open baffle with subs and a high end dome tweeter.
Need an electronic crossover with configurable slopes and cutoffs, or you can dick around with components and come up with a really smooth passive setup.

Good luck with yours. YOu may want to strip the large drivers out of the boxes and try them in setups, or maybe just listen to them stock.
