I liked the original date (first weekend in May) because it was a little cooler. Audiokarma kind of stole that weekend two years in a row, so rather than spoil it for everyone by having two shows on the same weekend, we moved. I still object to that, and think it was absolutely stupid for a group meeting so far north to take the early date - we should reverse them and put AK in June/July and leave LSAF for the early May timeframe. But we can't control the behavior of others.

You may have some influence though, Dave. I remember you were the one most vocal the last couple of years, (rightly) saying the two shows shouldn't be held on the same weekend. When AK chose to schedule overlapping our dates, you said something. Audio Note likes to be at all the shows, and you said so. My thinking is you are probably in the best position to make the case with grumpy at AK. If you can persuade him to schedule his show later on the calendar, we can put ours back where it always was since 2005.
