Should I say that, maybe it's important for some people and this does not affect the sound, ae/12S has a foam surround (like the e/LAB12). Do you think this is an important detail/decision for some people, like me - it's my opinion, saving money in the long run and keeping its (speaker) resale value. Note: the only one that doesn't have a foam surround is the Lambda Series TD12M.
