wow.  Im having trouble getting a scale of those things.  Looks like 3 1/2" woofers with about 5 1/4" ctc spacing.  Interesting.  That allows you to separate each enclosure.  Are they ported in the back?  Are there any benefits to having one shared enclosure?

Im thinking with the flange on the tang bands I can screw them down to a jig and cut them on my table saw.  I bet its possible to melt the cut ends and fuse them together to make one long tweeter.

Im going to order some tomorrow.  I'll tell you how the turn out.
