Well, I spaced off ordering my mono box set several weeks ago and was beginning to wonder if there were going to be more. Late last night Amazon put them back up for pre-order on a second shipping of the mono sets. I was going to go to Best Buy this morning to see if they happened to get a mono set in, but decided I'd just stick with my Amazon order. I figure I'll get the last three CD's in stereo, the start buying the stereo versions one at a time. The set is going to make a great 40th birthday present to myself.

Anyone else looking at the remasters?
