Just out of curiosity, why did you choose to post this in the Dungeon? Wanna keep the budget projects outta your neighborhood and leave 'em in the slums?

No, I positioned it in the dungeon because it's a ridiculous design, but one that I saw on another forum. Running tweeters with a 4.2khz Fs down to 200hz with a bass boost might produce a bit of distortion. There seem to be more impractical designs for line arrays than for any other type of speaker. I know because I've done some myself.

Also because this forum has been dormant too long, and I don't have any good Nobama jokes.
