Subject: Re: Horn loading and frequency
Posted by Wayne Parham on Mon, 19 Oct 2009 14:13:20 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

That's exactly right and is why basshorns have to be large. Just as you said, if the horn is too small, it's just a direct radiator in a fancy box. Sometimes its worse than that because the standing waves that line up inside can make response very peaky.