Subject: Re: help spend my money on an array project
Posted by jtwrace on Fri, 30 Oct 2009 14:55:00 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Marlboro wrote on Thu, 29 October 2009 22:26Whoa! This is way outta my league. Just the cost of the raw speakers is going to be almost $8000. With that package you will probably want to put together cabinetry for another 2K, so your system will cost you $10K, not including your labor.

If it doesn't sound totally unreal, I can't imagine what would.

I hope that you are under the age of 40, since anyone over that doesn't have enough ear left to hear the difference.

Marlboro

LOL. I thought nothing was out of your league after reading many of your posts.

Yes, but the money is not the primary concern...the sound is. I just would hate to put the effort into this project and wish I used a different driver. I also understand that many will have different ideas / designs but am I OK with using 20 C-79's with the Founteks?