I dig sci-fi, it makes me think something like on some starry night that there really could be something more out there... But seriously there are few things I like more, women, friends, caffiene, nicotine... And this is one of the best T.V. Sci-fi's Ive seen. It pulls some many cool elements together that you all have discussed but the asian/western feel is ultra cool and different. But it is one of the few seris I could watch over and over. Last night a beautiful woman and some friends enticed me to watch this until 3:30a.m when I had to be up for work at 6:30a.m so if that says anyting...
