Subject: Could someone point me toward an inexpensive tube amp?

I'm messing around with a tri-amped project and need a small inexpensive tube amp to drive my tweeters with. They're compression horn tweets and a couple watts per side would work fine.

I've looked at the "Audio Angel" Chinese amps on ebay and they're quite cheap price wise. Anyone here familiar with them?

Anyone know of anything else around?

All I need is one set of line level RCA ins and output jacks for two speakers. A volume control would be nice too.

Any thoughts?
