Hi Wayne. 2nd time poster, long time lurker.

I have done tons of research on your site and I am getting close to ordering a trio of Pi4's (DE250+2226H) for new LCR's in my home theater. Similar to what some other recent posts have wrote.

I saw this thread and had a couple questions. For HT use would there be any benefit using the Pi7's over the Pi4? I won't be using any cornerhorns. Unfortunately, I don't have that option right now. I saw this pic and thought it was really cool:

Could the Pi7 work with a forward firing woofer section? I know the JBL has nice midrange though so I am unsure. I don't want to complicate my build anymore than it needs to be but if there are benefits I'd like to know.

Thanks.
