Yes, you can rotate the cabinet and mount the drivers on the 13" side rather than the 16" side. That's one mod you can do safely. I kind of wince when people want to modify that box because it's tall enough that standing wave modes become significant. Just changing the positions of stuff can change the response. But rotating the box is safe. Just keep the vertical positions of the woofer and port the same and you'll be alright.
