You can make the speakers using the drivers you have, but use the H290 instead of the 2370. I've used those 2370's a lot over the years, and they're pretty good horns but a little bit spitty

2370 won't fit. I know you said you were going to put the horn on top, but this is a better solution all the way around. Sell the 2370 horns on ebay and you'll get enough out of them to buy H290's. You'll probably have enough extra cash left over to buy yourself a nice steak dinner!
