
Subject: Re: Build my own subs

Posted by mr16track on Fri, 07 May 2010 02:18:21 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Unfortunately, what you guys are saying is completely over my head...

Here's the thing: my system is nice. It is far from stellar, but I play in typically small rooms. It just doesn't have that "holy crap, that bass is thunder, but so clean and tight" sound.

My stereo at home is better, and it is just a set of Bose 901's and a JBL sub... It is ridiculous!!!

I would hate to build a set of subs for another grand and two weeks of nothing but weekends and up til midnights if they are not going to be the bomb!

The other thing that concerns me is the need for another $2000 amp. I was thinking that my Crown XTi 6000 would run both subs; but if I read the wiring diagram right, I need two amps...
